Message from the President and CEO

Dear Members, Partners, and Friends,

As we approach the ICEVI World Conference and General Assembly in Ahmedabad, India, in November 2024, we take this opportunity to highlight some important details that will be tabled at the General Assembly. The General Assembly takes place at the conclusion of each ICEVI quadrennium and provides a forum for information sharing and decision-making about the organisation. In this issue, we present the draft World Conference program and General Assembly schedule, together with the 2021 Memorandum of Understanding and Articles of Association and the proposed amendments. The advance circulation of these materials enables due consideration and discussion by the ICEVI constituency.

We sincerely thank members of the Executive Board and colleagues who have served on the various committees for the Conference and General Assembly. We thank Dr. Bhushan Punani, Ms. Sian Tesni, and members of the Host and Programme Committees of the World Conference for the time and energy they have invested in planning the conference logistics and preparing an impactful and engaging program. We also thank Dr. Punani and members of the Resolutions Committee who undertook the substantive review of the 2021 Memorandum of Understanding and Articles of Association. These two documents form the ICEVI constitution and set out the fundamental rules and regulations governing ICEVI. The aim of the review is to ensure the constitution remains relevant, effective, and aligned with the structure, priorities, and operational needs of the organisation.

We extend our thanks to Prof. John Ravenscroft and members of the Nominations Committee who have prepared the slate of candidates for the Principal Officer positions of President, First and Second Vice Presidents, and Treasurer. In accordance with the Articles of Association, the Principal Officers are elected each quadrennium and act on behalf of ICEVI and the Executive Board. Our special thanks are extended to Prof. Kay Ferrell and members of the editorial team of The Educator who have ably managed the newsletter's biannual publication throughout the quadrennium.

Our final thanks are extended to leadership and staff of the Blind Peoples Association (India) and Sense International India, the host organisations of the World Conference and General Assembly. We look forward to joining them in welcoming you to the conference and sharing knowledge and ideas about current research and practice in education of children and young people with visual impairment.

Frances Gentle, President; and
M.N.G. Mani, Chief Executive Officer

ICEVI GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND REGIONAL MEETINGS 2024: Programme Schedule

The constitution of ICEVI clearly says that the General Assembly should be conducted at the end of every term of the ICEVI executive board. Until 2002, ICEVI board had a 5-year term that was called Quinquennium. Since 2002, a 4 year Quadrennium is being followed and the principal officers are elected once in 4 years. One exception since 2002 is an extended period of office for the principal officers by 2 years that is from 2010 to 2012. In the year 2010, the World Conference and General Assembly were planned to be conducted in Jomtien, Thailand and that had to be abandoned due to some security reasons. Therefore the ICEVI Board extended the term of principal officers by 2 years until 2012.

In 2012, the ICEVI General Assembly was conducted in conjunction with the WBU-ICEVI Joint General Assemblies in Bangkok, Thailand. The General assemblies since then included the 2016 General Assembly held in Orlando, USA and the 2021 Assembly organised in the virtual format. The General Assembly that had to be held in Madrid, Spain in 2020 had to be called off due to the Corona pandemic and instead it was conducted virtually in June 2021. However, the General Assembly decided not to extend the Quadrennium and therefore the Principal Officers were elected for the period 2021-2024 only. The present General Assembly will be electing the principal officers for the period 2024 to 2028.

As per the constitution of ICEVI, all members of the executive board and 12 delegates drawn from each of the 7 regions of ICEVI will serve as the delegates in electing the Principal Officers of ICEVI and also in conducting all businesses at the General Assembly. Constitutional Amendments are always part of the General Assembly and the amendments adopted in the Assembly remain in vogue until further amendments are adopted by the subsequent General Assemblies. In addition to these, the General Assembly reviews the financial position of the organisation and also discusses the future plans particularly with those of ICEVI regions.

The tentative program of the 2024 General Assembly is presented as follows:

November 17, 2024 (Sunday)

REGIONAL MEETINGS: 09.30 to 11.30 A.M.

Regional meetings give an opportunity for all participants of the particular regions to come together and review the activities organised during the quadrennium and also consider the possibilities of networking within the countries of the regions. Four of the seven regions, namely Africa, Latin America, Europe and Pacific are legal entities and they elect their own regional boards as per the regional constitutions and the regional presidents thus selected serve as members of the ICEVI executive board. The other three regions namely East Asia, North America and the Caribbean and the West Asia regions elect their boards at the General Assembly. The matters discussed in regional meetings also serve as key discussion points at the larger General Assembly too.

ICEVI GENERAL ASSEMBLY: 02.00 to 04.00 P.M.

The tentative program of the General Assembly is as follows:

S. No.	Proceedings
1	Welcome
2	Moment of Silence to remember those professionals and members of ICEVI who passed away since the last General Assembly
3	Presidential Address
4	Report by the CEO/Secretary General
5	Presentation by Treasurer
6	Resolutions and Amendments
7	Report of the Nominations Committee
8	Introduction of new POs and Presidents of ICEVI regions
9	Address by new POs and the Regional Presidents
10	Vote of Thanks and Closing of the General Assembly

A delegate of the General Assembly nominated by the respective regions need not attend in person to vote. In case such a delegate is not able to attend the GA in person, a proxy vote can also be given on his/her behalf to the Regional President concerned.

Proposed Amendments to the Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association

Based on meetings with the Principal Officers and Regional Presidents, the ICEVI Resolutions Committee proposes the following amendments to the ICEVI Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association. The recommendations are drawn from the Executive Board resolutions during the Strategic Review of 2023, and the Governance Framework approved by the Executive Board in October 2019.

3. Report on Finances and Presentation of Audit Report of 2019:

Ms. Nandini Rawal, Treasurer, ICEVI, thanked the international partner members of ICEVI and The Nippon Foundation for their continued support in the past and especially at the recent time of the Covid pandemic. The quadrennial report of ICEVI which was sent to the delegates as a separate attachment included the audited report of ICEVI for the year 2019. The Treasurer informed that the audited report of 2020 was also under process. As per the report on finance, the opening balance in 2021 stood at US$ 599,522, which is healthy. This included a reserve fund of US$ 200,000, which ICEVI has been maintaining for many years. More than 80% of funds ICEVI received from the international partner members and The Nippon Foundation was spent on direct project activities in the ICEVI regions. With the ICEVI regions becoming legal entities, there is a scope for funds mobilisation at the regional level for supporting project activities at the regional as well as national levels in the future. In summary, the financial position of ICEVI presented at the General Assembly was healthy and ICEVI EXCO and the delegates thanked the international partner members, The Nippon Foundation, and organisational members for their support to ICEVI in furthering the cause of education for all children with visual impairment worldwide.

4. ICEVI Constitutional Amendments:

A brief note on the Governance Framework and the constitutional amendments was published in the January 2021 issue of The Educator and also circulated to the voting delegates of the General Assembly. Ms. Sabine Fijn Van Draat, who was the convenor of the ICEVI governance committee, presented the following amendments:

Proposed amendments to the 2010 Articles of Association (AOA) and Memorandum of Association of ICEVI

The 2010 Articles of Association (AOA) and Memorandum of Association (MOA) of ICEVI were endorsed in 2010. The Executive Committee proposes the following amendments to the AOA and MOA for endorsement by the ICEVI General Assembly, to be held virtually in June 2021. These amendments have come about as a result of the work of the ICEVI Governance Committee in developing a Governance Framework that was approved by the ICEVI Executive Committee in October 2019. The Governance Framework sets out the governance and administration processes of ICEVI at global and regional levels of the Council, and serves to ensure that all activities carried out under the ICEVI name and logo are compliant with the Vision, Mission, and Values of ICEVI, and also the ICEVI Code of Conduct and terms of reference.

Note for readers:

Please note that the proposed amendments are indicated in bold with double asterisks () at the beginning and end of each proposed change. Additional comments are shown in purple colour and commence with the word “Note”.

This committee was relevant when ICEVI and WBU jointly implemented the global campaign on education for all children with visual impairment, and organisations other than those present at the Executive Committee participated in the campaign. In the present context, there is no longer a need for the ICC.

delegates and three have abstained. There was no opposition for the amendments proposed by the executive committee.

Therefore, the resolution that the “constitutional amendments proposed by the ICEVI executive committee in the Articles of Association (AOA) and the Memorandum of Association (MOA), which were published in the January 2021 issue of The Educator and also circulated to the delegates of the ICEVI General Assembly be approved.” was endorsed by the General Assembly.

5. Introduction of Regional Presidents and short remarks by them

The Latin America, East Asia, North America, Pacific and the West Asia regions of ICEVI had already elected their regional presidents for the Quadrennium 2021-24. The Africa region will have their election in November 2021 as per the Constitution of the ICEVI Africa region. Similarly ICEVI Europe will elect its regional president in the forthcoming Regional Assembly probably in 2022. The outgoing regional presidents and the incoming regional presidents of the ICEVI regions were requested to make brief statements.

Africa region: The present regional president Ms. Gertrude Oforiwa Fefoame from Ghana had contributed significantly for the growth of ICEVI Africa region. It was in her tenure that the Africa region had become a legal entity. The regional president of the region for the forthcoming Quadrennium will be introduced to the ICEVI delegates once the Africa regional board meeting is over in November 2021 where the regional president is elected. Gertrude addressed the delegates of the General Assembly.

Europe region: For the Quadrennium 2017-20, Mrs. Panagiota (Betty) Leotsakou from Greece was elected as the regional president. Due to the sudden demise of Betty in 2017, Dr. Hans Welling, the former vice president of ICEVI and also the regional president of the Europe region was asked by the region to serve as the regional president for the rest of the Quadrennium. Hans has been a great supporter of ICEVI in various capacities. The regional president of the Europe region will be elected when its regional assembly is held probably in 2022. Therefore, Hans is continuing as the regional president until the new regional president is elected. Hans made a statement at the General Assembly.

Latin America region: Ms. Cristina Sanz from Argentina served as the regional president of the Latin America region and contributed significantly to its development. It was during her tenure as the regional president that the region was registered as a legal entity. ICEVI places on record its gratitude to the contributions made by Cristina.

Mr. Julio César Canizález from El Salvador has been elected as the new regional president of the Latin America region and ICEVI wishes him great success in his position. Julio made a brief statement at the General Assembly.

North America and the Caribbean region: Dr. Kay Ferrell from USA served as the regional president of the North America and the Caribbean region for the past two Quadrennium. Kay contributed significantly to ICEVI for a long time and her recent contribution was the development of ICEVI teacher training curriculum for inclusive education that can be accessed from the ICEVI website. Kay is also serving as the editor of ICEVI's magazine The Educator. ICEVI profoundly thanked Kay for her contribution and is pleased that she will continue her role as the editor of The Educator. Kay addressed the delegates of the General Assembly.

Ms. Susan LaVenture, who is an advocate of parents' moment at the global level, has been elected as the regional president of the NAC region for the Quadrennium 2021-24. ICEVI believes that her new position will provide impetus for strengthening the parents' movement within ICEVI. Susan addressed the General Assembly.

Pacific region: Mr. Ben Clare from Australia served as the regional president of the Pacific region for the Quadrennium 2017–20. Ben expanded the activities of ICEVI especially in the island countries of the region and contributed significantly in the area of technology. ICEVI placed on record its gratitude to Ben for his contributions for the growth of Pacific regional activities. Ben addressed the delegates of the General Assembly.

Dr. Joanne Mosen from Australia who is from the developmental field in the area of disability took over as the new regional president of the Pacific region. ICEVI hopes Jo will bring a new perspective to the regional development in the Pacific region. Jo addressed the delegates of the General Assembly.

West Asia region: Dr. Bhushan Punani from India served as the regional president of the West Asia region for many terms. With his legal background, he contributed significantly to ICEVI in framing policies. He also represented ICEVI in global forums and organised regional conferences in every tenure of his presidency. ICEVI expressed its gratitude to Bhushan and he addressed the delegates.

The West Asia region had elected Mr. Birendra Raj Pokharel from Nepal as its new regional president. Birendra is closely associated with ICEVI Nepal. Being an activist in the field, Birendra will certainly bring new momentum to the ICEVI West Asia region. Birendra addressed the General Assembly.

6. Report of Nominations Committee

Andrew Griffiths, chairman of the ICEVI nominations committee shared with the voting delegates of ICEVI through mail, the slate of principal officers proposed for the Quadrennium 2021-24 with a request to endorse the nomination or provide any other suggestions. The proposed names were:

- Dr. Frances Gentle for the position of president,
- Dr. Bhushan Punani for first vice president
- Ms. Sabine Fijn van Draat for second vice president, and
- Dr. Praveena Sukhraj-Ely for the position of treasurer.

Following is the summary of the responses received from the delegates before the stipulated deadline of 20 May 2021.

- 88 endorsements approving the slate of principal officers were received, which is more than 2/3rd majority of the ICEVI delegates.
- No opposition for the proposed candidates was received from any delegate.
- No alternative names were suggested for any of the four positions.

In the face-to-face General Assembly the principal officers are suggested by the nominations committee for endorsement and the delegates either unanimously approve or may suggest candidates from the floor of the General Assembly. As this process is cumbersome in a virtual General Assembly the delegates were contacted by mail and requested for their written endorsement. The responses clearly indicate that the proposed slate of principal officers had already received overwhelming endorsement for their respective positions and technically elected to assume office for the next Quadrennium. The General Assembly endorsed the recommendations of the nominations committee and welcomed the new principal officers for the Quadrennium 2021 to 2024.

Gertrude Oforiwa Fefoame

Regional President, ICEVI Africa Region and Chair of the UNCRPD Committee

The summit was held at the United Nations Office in Kenya on 9-10 May under the title “Shaping a Future of Global and Sustainable Progress.” This is the first of its kind in Africa. It was reported that 2,500 in-person participants came from 110 countries.

The overview was to drive a shared vision for reinvigorated multilateralism, which would create a better world and a brighter future for all.

All six Co-Facilitators for the Summit of the Future and its outputs, namely the Pact for the Future: Germany and Namibia, the Declaration on Future Generations: Netherlands and Jamaica, and the Global Digital Compact: Sweden and Zambia, were present. It was also gratifying to see the UN Secretary-General and President of Kenya, in addition to many of the UN Heads of Missions in Kenya.

The conference highlighted the following key areas:

- Inclusive Participation
- Support for multilateralism approaches in tackling global challenges and
- Call to action for concrete action and collaboration to address urgent humanitarian crises, advance the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and promote peace and justice worldwide, climate change, gender equality, human rights, and youth empowerment.

Below are highlights summarized in two major areas:

- ▲ Participation and Observations.
- ▲ ADDITIONAL GENERAL INFORMATION.

PARTICIPATION AND OBSERVATION

The summit was characterised by plenary sessions, workshops and interactive dialogues. Workshops were on the 9th, while the 10th was for the interactive dialogues.

My main aim was to advocate for the inclusion of persons with disabilities in all discussions, with a special emphasis on the education of individuals with disabilities in general and particularly persons with visual impairment, as well as children and young people with additional disabilities. In collaboration with other disability rights advocates, we are committed to ensuring that global leaders make both the outcomes and the preparatory processes of the Summit inclusive and accessible for all persons with disabilities. Our ongoing efforts aim to foster deliberate inclusion at every stage.

I had the privilege of participating as a panellist in my dual roles as Chair of the CRPD Committee and representative of ICEVI at a side event. This event was jointly organised by the Global Stakeholder Group for Persons with Disabilities, United Disabled People Kenya (UDPK), International Disability Alliance (IDA), CBM Global Disability Inclusion, and Sightsavers (Equal World campaign). The discussion was centred on the topic: 'A Seat at the Table for 1 Billion Persons with Disabilities: Building a Truly Inclusive Future for All' and was co-sponsored by UNICEF, ESARO, UN-Habitat, World Blind Union, and the Women's Major Group. Although ICEVI was not initially included on the event flyer due to a delay in announcing our participation, the moderator acknowledged ICEVI as one of the organisers at the start of the event. During the discussion, I focused on accessibility and quality inclusive education, using these themes to underscore ICEVI's commitment to addressing the exclusion faced by persons with disabilities.

The other workshops attended were: "Co-creating the future: children's experiences toward a greener, fairer and happier world" and "Let's have an ambitious pact of the future: Why democracy and security in Africa and Geneva multilateral agenda matter".

On the second day of the programme, several coalitions were formed to advance various proposals for global governance reform. The first coalition I joined focused on child rights participation, organised by UNICEF and Save the Children. The session featured both adult and child speakers, including representatives from various parts of the world, some attending in person and others online. They discussed key issues such as discrimination in education and violence. Particular attention was given to the challenges faced by children with disabilities. I emphasised the critical importance of inclusive, quality education for all, especially for minority groups such as children who are blind and deafblind.

The second coalition focused on underrepresented communities and had a similar structure.

Registration was conducted for both sessions, but there was uncertainty about how follow-up processes would be managed. Concerns were raised in both coalitions about whether these groups were replacing existing Stakeholder CSOs, and whether their goals were specific or general, achievable or merely aspirational. Although some explanations were provided during the group discussions and the plenary session, they lacked sufficient clarity.

Together with the UN Taskforce of the International Disability and Development Consortium (IDDC), the CRPD Committee, and the International Disability Alliance (IDA), we will follow up to assess how effectively these efforts can be utilised to advance our agenda. During the plenary sessions, the extent to which disability was featured was limited but not entirely absent. Disabilities were mentioned occasionally, typically within the context of discussions about vulnerable groups. The overarching commitment was to inclusivity for all countries and peoples across all segments of society, ensuring that no one is left behind, including children, persons with disabilities, older persons, indigenous peoples, and other vulnerable groups.

During the summit, I seized the opportunity to engage in informal discussions with teams from Sightsavers, UDPK, CBM International, Ecumenical Disability Network, and WBU, with whom ICEVI Africa has project partnerships. We convened to align our messages and ensure consistency in our inputs. Despite efforts to reach representatives outside the disability fraternity, the tightly packed program made this challenging. However, during an evening refreshment session, I managed to find some time for informal conversations with attendees from Sierra Leone, Costa Rica, and Brazil.

Concerns about the floods affecting many parts of the world, including Kenya and Brazil, were prevalent throughout the summit. Additionally, a significant event occurred in the afternoon before the summit's close—a demonstration by representatives from Palestine demanding a ceasefire and peace.

The summit's co-facilitators outlined each segment's next steps and encouraged ongoing advocacy. They noted that they are open to listening and stressed the importance of collaborating with states. They also announced a pre-summit before the upcoming Summit of the Future in September, urging civil society organizations (CSOs) to participate actively.

I also had the pleasure of meeting with the newly appointed Administrator Project Assistant of the Africa Office. Although brief, it was a welcoming interaction that added a personal touch to our professional relationship.

ADDITIONAL GENERAL INFORMATION

Some additional discussions from the conference were:

- Participation and Inclusivity: Civil society emphasised the critical need for direct participation in shaping the future agenda, calling for the inclusion of marginalised voices and the recognition of systematic barriers to participation.
- Conflict and Peace: There was a strong call for redirecting military spending towards social infrastructure. The discussions also focused on the significant impact of armed conflict on vulnerable populations, including older persons and those with disabilities.
- Technology and Human Rights: The conversation centred on the necessity of a human rights-based approach to technology. Emphasis was placed on bridging the digital divide and ensuring equitable access to digital resources and opportunities.
- Youth Empowerment: Youth participation and inclusion were prioritised, with suggestions to integrate youth indicators into national plans and establish mechanisms for meaningful youth involvement in decision-making processes.
- Global Governance Reform: Proposals were made to improve participation within the United Nations and to reform global governance structures to enhance transparency, accountability, and equitable representation.
- Shrinking Civil Space: Concerns were expressed about the global reduction in civil space with calls for increased support for civil society and meaningful engagement of youth across United Nations frameworks.

UN Secretary-General Speech Summary

António Guterres acknowledged the crucial role of civil society in promoting peace, justice, and sustainable development despite the risk's activists face. He outlined several global crises, including challenges in sustainable development, frequent conflicts, widespread poverty, increasing inequality, and climate change effects. Critiquing the international system as outdated, he called for substantial multilateral and international financial systems reforms to align better with current challenges. Guterres advocated for the creation of a new emergency platform, improved governance of emerging technologies, and a refreshed approach to peace and security. He underscored the importance of civil society's ongoing involvement and advocacy, expressing optimism about the future driven by civil society's efforts. He urged civil society to engage with national governments and advocate for ambitious commitments at the upcoming Summit of the Future.

President of Kenya Speech Summary

The president emphasised that development should not be solely the responsibility of the executive or those in power. Instead, it should be a collective effort involving politicians, the government, the opposition, civil society, NGOs, and various community groups. He stressed the importance of adopting an inclusive approach to tackle national cohesion and inequality challenges.

Conclusion

I wish to highlight that the first revision of the Pact for the Future has been released, featuring two references to persons with disabilities. However, the fight for disability inclusion must continue until disability is recognised as a cross-cutting issue, with firm commitments across multiple areas, such as implementing inclusive quality education. This effort must also ensure that policies are developed through effective consultation with representative organisations of persons with disabilities, including those representing children and other partners.

Our participation in the summit has reinforced the essential role of disability advocacy in shaping a truly inclusive global agenda. By integrating the perspectives of those with disabilities, we aim to dismantle systemic barriers and champion policies that ensure equal opportunities for all. This endeavour aligns with our organisation's mission to advocate for the rights and inclusion of people with disabilities at every level of decision-making. As we push forward, let's continue to ensure that our initiatives are not only inclusive but also transformative, addressing the root causes of inequality and exclusion.

Suggested Actions

- Strengthen Multilateralism: Civil society, youth, indigenous peoples, governments, and UN agencies must collaborate to address global issues effectively.
- Actionable Steps for Climate Justice: Transition from rhetoric to concrete actions, focusing on climate justice and sustainable development.
- Empowerment and Inclusion: Ensure inclusive participation at the decision-making table and invest in initiatives that promote long-term economic stability and prosperity for all, not just a privileged few.
- Debt and Poverty Alleviation: Address national debt and poverty with fair economic policies, and ensure equal access to quality education, healthcare, and fair employment opportunities.
- Sustained Engagement Post-Summit: UNCSC participants are expected to continue addressing the issues raised, maintaining momentum and ensuring follow-through beyond the summit.

- Civil Society's Role at the Summit of the Future: Engage civil society in the upcoming Summit of the Future to drive progress on key issues and strengthen multilateralism.
- Reform of Financial and Security Structures: Advocate for significant reforms in the international financial architecture and the United Nations Security Council to better address current global challenges.

Our organisation's participation in the summit is a pivotal step toward broader systemic change. Moving forward, it is imperative that we maintain and even intensify our efforts to influence global leaders. We must ensure that the inclusivity we advocate for reaches all corners of society, particularly those most often overlooked. Leveraging our experiences and insights from the summit, we are positioned to advocate for substantial and enduring improvements in the lives of people with disabilities.
